New York State Department of Health (NYSDOH) Bureau of Women's Health (BWH) is issuing this Request for Applications (RFA) to announce the availability of funds to support sexual violence primary prevention. NYSDOH is seeking applications to support two components of this RFA:

Component A - Local primary prevention education programs to provide education in the primary prevention of rape and sexual assault to youth and adults in the communities served. The programs will promote strategies to change the "culture" in the target areas/populations to address factors that foster sexual violence.

Component B - One statewide or up to two (2) regional Center(s) of Excellence (COE) to provide training, technical assistance and expertise to funded programs in Component A and to partner with the NYSDOH in the identification of new and emerging evidence and research regarding approaches to prevent sexual violence. The COE will also work with the NYSDOH on special projects that advance the primary prevention of sexual violence in NYS. The COE(s) will serve as a focal point for information and research and form a bridge between research, policy, guidance and program to promote the primary prevention of sexual violence. The COE(s) will facilitate and serve as an active member of the NYSDOH Sexual Violence Primary Prevention Committee that meets up to four times annually in Albany to discuss ways to promote the prevention of sexual violence.

Eligible applicants include:

Component A – County health departments, not-for-profit hospitals, not-for-profit entities including but not limited to Boys and Girls Clubs, faith-based organizations, community centers, youth clubs or juvenile justice programs (not including juvenile justice programs that focus on perpetrators of rape/sexual violence), and community health centers in New York State.

Component B - Applications will be accepted from incorporated, not-for-profit organizations in New York State and not-for-profit New York State universities, academic and research institutions with demonstrated experience in curricula development and the provision of training and technical assistance related to primary prevention in a variety of modalities.

It is anticipated that up to $1.15 million will be available to support Component A and up to $500,000 to support Component B. The grant is for the period January 1, 2010 – December 31, 2010, with annual renewals of up to four additional years thereafter, contingent on program performance and availability of funds.
